FACULTY ADVISING FOR CMRS STUDENTS 2023-2024

IMPORTANT: Students currently enrolled in the CMRS Major, Honours, or Double Honours should take note of the program changes beginning in July 2023 for the 2023-2024 year and onward. Students currently enrolled in the program will have the choice of completing the CMRS program which they enrolled in or following the new simplified program (recommended). Please see the Director if you require information about completing your program.

Some things to ask your faculty advisor:

- Does my course selection fit my educational and vocational goals?
- Does it meet the requirements for the CMRS Major?
CMRS Honours?
- How do I get permission to register in 300- and 400-level courses?
- Honours: Which Honours colloquium should I register for? How do I meet the Honours colloquium requirement?
- Have I met requirements 1-5 of the Type A (Humanities) program?
- How will my course selection prepare me for graduate work in History? Classics? English?
- How will my course selection prepare me for studies in Law? Education? Museum Studies?
- What can I do with a CMRS degree?

Students are strongly encouraged to consult with advisors in the Arts & Science Undergraduate Office to ensure they are fulfilling program requirements. See contact information at:

CLASSICAL, MEDIEVAL & RENAISSANCE STUDIES

Classical, Medieval, and Renaissance Studies (CMRS) is an interdisciplinary program that provides a broad foundation in the humanistic, cultural, and learned traditions of the Classical (Greece and Rome), Medieval and Renaissance eras of western Europe and the Eastern Mediterranean. Built around a small framework of core courses in languages and a small number of mandatory CMRS courses, this program allows students who want flexibility and breadth of choice to widely explore the creative, cultural, intellectual, and scientific legacy of the pre-modern western world: Greece and Rome, the eastern Mediterranean, and Medieval and Renaissance Europe. Faculty in CMRS work closely with students in the program, inviting everyone into a dialogue with the past, one that endeavours to bring us face to face with the values of pre-modern people and, ultimately, with our own. This dialogue should be a source of personal revelation and delight. Students will have the opportunity to choose courses in Art History, Archaeology, Classics, Drama, English, French, Geography, Greek, History, Latin, Music, Philosophy, Political Studies, and Religious Studies, and Spanish.

At every stage of the program faculty emphasize the development of research and writing skills and critical reasoning necessary for success in many future career paths. Many of our students have gone on to successful careers in the law, library sciences, digital humanities, museum studies and curation, foreign service, the military, journalism, creative writing, management, and the teaching professions in schools and universities.

Administration of the Program

CMRS is administered by an Executive Committee with representatives from a range of departments in the College of Arts and Science, St Thomas More College, the Murray Library, and sometimes elsewhere.

OTHER PROGRAMS OF INTEREST

The following Minors and Certificates may be acquired along with a CMRS degree; along with another degree; or as stand-alone certificates.

Minor in Classics (24 Credit Units)

Classics studies the ancient civilizations of Greece and Rome from the Minoan and Mycenaean ages to the fall of the Roman Empire in the West. Intellectually and artistically the period from Homer (700 BCE) to St Augustine (354-430 CE), in particular, represents one of the most creative eras in human history. Courses in Classics allow students to explore the full range of the ancient Graeco-Roman tradition by examining the history, social mores, literature, philosophy, religion, art, architecture, and archaeology of the different periods of ancient Greek and Roman culture. Knowledge of Latin or Greek is not a prerequisite for CLAS courses, so students can study this material in translation or in the original languages. Greek and Latin courses are listed under their respective subjects in the Course Catalogue

Requirements:

6 credit units from the following:

- CLAS 104.3 Classical Myths
- CLAS 110.3 Greek Civilization
- CLAS 111.3 Roman Civilization
- CMRS 110.3 The Graeco Roman Tradition Evolution and Reception

18 credit units from the following:

No more than 3 credit units from CLAS 101.3 Introduction to Scientific Terminology, CLAS 103.3 Medical Terminology, CLAS 105.3 Classical Roots of English, CLAS 107.3 Introduction to Legal Terminology or CLAS 203.3 Advanced Medical Terminology; no more than 9 credit units may be taken in ARCH; and no more than 9 credit units may be taken in HIST.

Certificate of Proficiency in Classical and Medieval Latin

This certificate may be taken in conjunction with any Four-year major or Honours program.

Requirements:

- LATN 112.3: Latin for Beginners I
- LATN 113.3: Latin for Beginners II
- LATN 202.3: Intermediate Latin I
- LATN 203.3: Intermediate Latin II
- 6 credit units of LATN 400.3: Senior Latin (a shell course that may be taken more than once)

(Note: there are no 300-level Latin courses. All courses after the second year are intensive reading courses.)

The Certificate of Proficiency in Classical and Medieval Latin is designed to assist students who wish to incorporate classical and/or medieval Latin in their studies, or who are simply interested in developing a reading knowledge of Latin. It offers a focused set of courses that provides training in Latin grammar and syntax as well as practical experience in the translation and interpretation of Classical and Medieval Latin texts. Students will not only learn how to read Latin but will receive rigorous training in grammatical and stylistic analysis, as well as the broader tools employed in the philological study of texts (the situating of texts in a wider historical, cultural, and literary context). At the conclusion of the program, students will be certified as competent to employ Latin in graduate studies and will have developed a sophisticated understanding of English grammar and elements of prose style. The program is designed to be of particular use to students who wish to employ Latin in research – at either the undergraduate or graduate level – involving primary texts from the ancient, medieval, and early modern periods, but it offers something for everyone.

To apply for the Certificate of Proficiency in Classical and Medieval Latin, contact Student Advising and Support for the College of Arts and Science before graduation. This Certificate will not be granted automatically even if you have credit for all the required courses.

Certificate in Jewish and Christian Origins (24 Credit Units)

The Certificate in Jewish and Christian Origins at the University of Saskatchewan provides an interdisciplinary approach to the academic study of the origins, development of and cultural impact of two world religions, Judaism and Christianity, from their beginnings in ancient Israel to the parallel developments of rabbinic Judaism and emergent Christianity subsequent to the first Jewish War of 70 C.E. to Late Antiquity, including some coverage of the origins of Islam in relation to Judaism and Christianity.
