Department of English
Assistant Professor, Renaissance Literature

The Department of English in the College of Arts & Science, University of Saskatchewan, invites applications for a three-year appointment in English Renaissance Literature at the Assistant Professor level, to begin July 1, 2017.

The successful candidate will teach undergraduate classes in English Renaissance Literature, including Shakespeare, as well as introductory literature and composition courses for first-year students. The position could also entail leading honours and graduate seminars, undertaking graduate supervision, and participating in the administrative work of the Department. A completed or nearly-completed PhD is required, as is demonstrated ability in teaching, research, and publication. In accordance with the Department's commitment to increasing Aboriginal participation in all aspects and levels of its activities, qualified Aboriginal applicants are particularly encouraged to apply. Information about the department can be found on our website:

<http://artsandscience.usask.ca/english/> .

Located in the College of Arts and Science, the Department of English has twenty-four permanent faculty. The department provides undergraduate and graduate education in a variety of subject areas, with areas of concentration for graduate studies in Indigenous Literatures, Cultural Studies, Digital Studies, Canadian Literature, and Modernist Studies. English faculty collaborate with and teach in programs in Classical, Medieval, and Renaissance Studies (CMRS), Women's and Gender Studies, Digital Culture and New Media, the MFA in Writing, and the Department of Drama. Our Department's vision is to be a place where many peoples come together to engage in mutually respectful relations and dialogues. We acknowledge that the land on which we gather is Treaty Six territory and traditional Métis homeland, and we acknowledge the diverse Indigenous peoples whose footsteps have marked this territory for centuries.

The College of Arts & Science offers a dynamic combination of programs in the humanities and fine arts, the social sciences and the sciences. There are over 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students in the College and 295 faculty, including 12 Canada Research Chairs. The College emphasizes student and faculty research, interdisciplinary programs, community outreach and international opportunities.

The University of Saskatchewan is located in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a city with a diverse and thriving economic base, a vibrant arts community and a full range of leisure opportunities. The University has a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and scholarly activities, and offers a full range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to a student population of about 23,000. The university is one of Canada's leading research-intensive universities.
