The Department of Economics is pleased to announce that Dr. Ricardo Hausmann, Director of the Center for International Development and Professor of the Practice of Economic Development at Harvard University, will present the 2013 Johanna M. Boving Lecture in Economic Development, “Knowhow and Wealth and Poverty of Nations”.

241 Arts Building, University of Saskatchewan
Tuesday, April 9, 2013, 7:30 pm.

Ricardo Hausmann is one of the foremost thinkers on how regions and countries can accelerate growth. His research includes issues of growth, macroeconomic stability, international finance, and the social dimensions of development.

A public reception will follow the Lecture.

For more info, please phone 966-5197 or visit the Department’s web site at http://artsandscience.usask.ca/economics/

This lecture is sponsored by the J.M. Boving Lecture Fund, Department of Economics, University of Saskatchewan.