SPEAKER: Helen Power, Librarian
Engineering and Science Library

TOPIC: Managing Your Citations: Introduction to Zotero

DATE: Tuesday February 25th, 2020

TIME: 3:30-4:30 p.m.

PLACE: Physics 103

ABSTRACT:

Need a system to keep track of all your research sources? Want to save time and take the pain out of formatting references and works cited lists in your research papers or thesis? Zotero is a free, open-source tool to save, organize, format, and cite references to journal articles, books, websites, reports, patents, theses, and more.

Helen Power is USask's new Engineering and Science Librarian. She comes from the University of Windsor, where she was an Information Services Librarian. Her office is in the Engineering Building room 2B41, if you want to drop by for help with developing your research strategy, building your online scholarly profile, or managing your citations.

Coffee and Cookies will be served in Physics lounge at 3:00 p.m. for those attending the seminar.
